Proactive assessment

Ensuring asset integrity is vital for the safety of your staff and the reliability of your operations.

Failure of your equipment could lead to unplanned shut-down, millions of dollars of lost production, or even worse, result in serious injury and environmental damage.

Accordingly, HSE experts recommend that regular inspection and maintenance is planned for as a critical part of your operations.

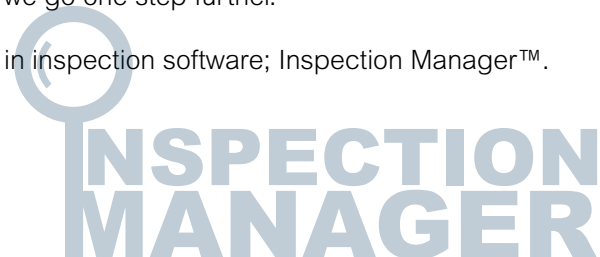

Traditional inspection services

Effective inspection is essential to:

- Ensure asset integrity and safety
- Adhere to statutory regulations and prove compliance
- Reduce environmental impact
- Enhance operational performance
- Prevent shut-downs
- Reduce costs

With visual, close and detailed inspections of your assets – regardless of equipment manufacturer – conducted by our inspection experts and experienced CompEx technicians, Alderley delivers all the benefits of a well-executed inspection, but we go one step further.

We utilise the next generation in inspection software; Inspection Manager™.

Next generation inspection services

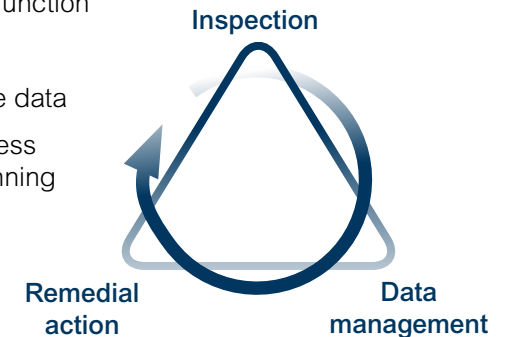

Inspection Manager is an intuitive, fully digital application used to support inspectors and administrators in completing their inspection tasks.

Developed in-house and used exclusively by the Alderley group, Inspection Manager retains all the benefits of a traditional paper-based inspection and augments them by enabling our experts to deliver a more efficient, faster and more reliable inspection service.

Using a tablet application for inspectors and a desktop application for administrators, Inspection Manager provides near real-time inspection results through a secure syncing mechanism.

This provides:

- Rapid feedback from the inspectors
- Instant access to reports, inspection status and any critical flags via client login function
- Prompt and actionable insight
- Secure, traceable and auditable data
- Completion rates to track progress and support better forward planning
- Dashboard reporting to reduce administration and support decision-making

Complete lifecycle support

Powered by Inspection Manager, our inspection team will fully assess your process systems whilst providing instant and actionable insights to support any remedial activities – all of which can be completed by the Alderley Services team for a prompt resolution.
